LORE

Scrub-Bots are cleaning robots that are utilized for a variety of cleaning tasks, including scrubbing floors, sterilizing equipment, delousing patients, and incinerating trash and other organic material (like corpses).

Scrub-Bot T-254 is a corrupt scrub-bot that has been left behind since its previous owners have passed away. Without anyone to reset its Bios or perform maintenance on it, it's only gotten worse, scrubbing creatures down to their bare skeletons.

Scrub-Bot T-254 is a well-rounded boss. Since it's a robot, it's naturally immune to Poison, but this specific fluid-filled robot is not immune to Stun, and is actually vulnerable to it. In addition, it's cable and tube intensive structure allows it to be dealt Wounds, just like a normal creature.

APPEARANCE

The Scrub-Bot T-254 is a large robot that's clearly designed for cleaning, as it's amply armed with disinfectants and flammable solvents. It has a quadruped type body with four heavy metal legs, and then an upper body with 2 arms, capable of spraying and releasing a variety of liquids.

As for weapons, The Scrub-Bot T-254 uses a 3ft long wire bristle brush for melee attacks. This brush is capable of leaving grievous wounds by shredding your flesh apart and leaving metal bristles stuck in your skin (similar to a cactus.) For ranged attacks, this creature is armed with a built-in proton blaster, capable of disrupting organic material. The Incinerate ability shoots a blast of fuel followed by a spark to create a sudden burst of flame, similar to an aerosol flamethrower.

COMBAT BEHAVIOR

The Scrub-Bot T-254 is not an intelligent combatant, due to its corrupted nature. It will likely choose to the dirtiest looking Hero and focus on them for the first 2 rounds of combat (have all Heroes do a CHA test at the beginning of combat, and the Scrub-Bot T-254 will focus on the lowest scoring Hero for the first 2 rounds.) After the second round, it's likely to target Heroes at random.

The Scrub-Bot T-254 isn't immune to many status effects, but it does have the Auto-Cleanser trait. This trait allows it to, at the beginning of its turn and at will, cure any 1 status effect or wound from any one creature within sight (typically itself.)
